

Our People Make The Difference

Employee dedication is the single most important element behind the success of Travis Pruitt & Associates. TPA's staff over 80 specialists consistently identify ways to solve problems and contribute to our clients' project success. Ongoing training keeps our staff members' skills current on the latest technological equipment and software.

The company's team approach to projects is a key element in the quality and value we provide to our customers. Projects are led under the direction of registered professionals to whom clients have direct access at all times. The staff's unequivocal dedication and attention to detail is what makes every project at TPA great.

Our History

Founded in 1972, Travis Pruitt & Associates has focused on providing high quality land surveying and civil engineering services with a penchant for skillfully managing timely deliveries and maintaining budgets. This approach has forged invaluable relationships with our clients and established the company's reputation for excellence.
